The Special Collection on the Coronavirus (COVID-19): evidence relevant to critical care has now p ublished in the Cochrane Library.
This Special Collection will be updated to ensure it remains applicable as the situation changes, and as WHO guidance evolves, and will also draw on the knowledge of Cochrane groups in affected regions.

If you'd like a copy of one of the reviews, or any other systematic review from the Cochrane Library , to speak with a Cochrane expert, or to be added to our media list to receive information on future reviews, please contact me.

About Cochrane

Cochrane is a global independent network of researchers, professionals, patients, carers and people interested in health. Cochrane produces reviews which study all of the best available evidence generated through research and make it easier to inform decisions about health. These are called systematic reviews.

Cochrane is a not-for profit organization with collaborators from more than 120 countries working together to produce credible, accessible health information that is free from commercial sponsorship and other conflicts of interest. Our work is recognized as representing an international gold standard for high quality, trusted information.
