WILEY

How dangerous is China's bird flu outbreak? When is it safe to drive again following a stroke? Can diet determine the severity of asthma; and why are the Irish the most optimistic people on earth? These questions and more are answered in the latest issue of the Wiley News Round-Up, your regular source of breaking research news.

Please note that the News Round-Up often contains stories that are under embargo. The release date of each embargoed study is clearly marked in red above the title.

We recommend that you login to the

Wiley Press Room before clicking on the press room links below, which will automatically enable you to see the related PDFs and any embargoed stories. To request a login, click here. If you have requested a login and not yet received one, you should hear from us in the next few days. In the meantime, we are happy to provide any PDFs - please contact us at sciencenewsroom@wiley.com.
